

StarWise Astrological Good Days Calendar

Produced Especially for Sample Customer

Your StarWise Good Days Calendar is calculated from your birth time to show information about the events (transits) that make it a good day. The transits are calculated for your unique horoscope as it relates to the aspects formed by the event and your relocated natal signs. An overall numerical rating of the day and information about the contributing power of the events that make it a good day are shown. Additional information is provided about the "nature" or "effect" of the transiting planets on your day in a separate document.
